

Park and Recreation Professional's Handbook With Online Resource, The

By Amy Hurd, Denise Anderson

Download now

Read Online ➔

Park and Recreation Professional's Handbook With Online Resource, The

By Amy Hurd, Denise Anderson

Continuing education and development are of the utmost importance if you want to advance in the field. Whether you're a graduating student or a new professional preparing for certification or a veteran practitioner looking to update your knowledge of current best practices, The Park and Recreation Professional's Handbook is the one resource you will need.

The Park and Recreation Professional's Handbook offers the following features:

- A thorough grounding in all areas of programming, operations management, and administration that will serve as the foundation for success in the profession
- Real-world examples from a variety of commercial, nonprofit, and public-sector agencies that will help students better understand the concepts and provide professionals with fresh ideas that they can use in their own agencies
- Recent research integrated into each chapter, which ensures that readers have the latest information available on each topic
- An online resource with sample documents from real-world agencies, learning activities, and research assignments that assist readers in applying the information to the profession
- An overview of the history and theoretical background of the profession and a discussion of ethics and professional conduct

This comprehensive resource addresses all of the essential topics that professionals must know, including program planning and evaluation, facility management, human resources, marketing, budgeting and financial planning, and policy making. Each chapter seamlessly blends foundational concepts, the latest research, and real-world examples to offer complete and current coverage of the topics in an easy-to-read format. To make studying easier for those preparing for certification, the chapters follow the topical areas covered in the exam. However, the book goes beyond what's required for passing the exam: It presents readers with a complete picture of all of the skills needed for success in the field, making it a perfect resource for professionals who want to refresh their understanding of individual topics.

Prepare for your future in the field with The Park and Recreation Professional's Handbook. Its straightforward explanations of key topics make it a resource that you'll keep in your library long after you've earned your certification.

Continuing education and development are of the utmost importance if you want to advance in the field. Whether you're a graduating student or a new professional preparing for certification or a veteran practitioner looking to update your knowledge of current best practices, The Park and Recreation Professional's Handbook is the one resource you will need.

The Park and Recreation Professional's Handbook offers the following features:

- A thorough grounding in all areas of programming, operations management, and administration that will serve as the foundation for success in the profession
- Real-world examples from a variety of commercial, nonprofit, and public-sector agencies that will help students better understand the concepts and provide professionals with fresh ideas that they can use in their own agencies
- Recent research integrated into each chapter, which ensures that readers have the latest information available on each topic
- An online resource with sample documents from real-world agencies, learning activities, and research assignments that assist readers in applying the information to the profession
- An overview of the history and theoretical background of the profession and a discussion of ethics and professional conduct

This comprehensive resource addresses all of the essential topics that professionals must know, including program planning and evaluation, facility management, human resources, marketing, budgeting and financial planning, and policy making. Each chapter seamlessly blends foundational concepts, the latest research, and real-world examples to offer complete and current coverage of the topics in an easy-to-read format. To make studying easier for those preparing for certification, the chapters follow the topical areas covered in the exam. However, the book goes beyond what's required for passing the exam: It presents readers with a complete picture of all of the skills needed for success in the field, making it a perfect resource for professionals who want to refresh their understanding of individual topics.

Prepare for your future in the field with The Park and Recreation Professional's Handbook. Its straightforward explanations of key topics make it a resource that you'll keep in your library long after you've earned your certification.

Amy R. Hurd, PhD, is an associate professor in the School of Kinesiology and Recreation at Illinois State University in Normal, where she teaches graduate and undergraduate courses in recreation management, leadership, and marketing. Hurd received her PhD in leisure behavior from Indiana University in 2001. Her research interests focus on management in parks and recreation with specific regard to management competencies.

Hurd has worked in public-sector parks and recreation as a marketing director for the Champaign Park District in Champaign, Illinois. She has also served on the National Recreation and Park Association's American Park and Recreation Society board. She has coauthored Kraus' Recreation and Leisure in Modern Society, the Official Study Guide for the Certified Park and Recreation Professional Examination, and Leisure Services Management.

In her free time, Hurd enjoys biking, kayaking, and hiking. She lives in Normal, Illinois.

Denise M. Anderson, PhD, received her PhD from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign in 2000. Anderson is currently an associate professor in the department of parks, recreation, and tourism management at Clemson University in South Carolina, where she teaches courses in community recreation and youth development. She also serves as curriculum coordinator for community recreation, sport, and camp management and as chair of the graduate student committee. In 2008 she was named Clemson's Outstanding Woman Faculty Member.

Anderson worked for four years at the Champaign Park District in Champaign, Illinois. She has also served on the board of the National Recreation and Park Association's Society of Park and Recreation Educators.

Anderson lives in Clemson, South Carolina, with her husband, Dan, and her son, Hayden. She enjoys baking, hiking, and boating with her family.

Brent A. Beggs, PhD, is an associate professor and director of the recreation and park administration program at Illinois State University, where he teaches undergraduate and graduate courses in facility design, management of sport and recreation agencies, research methods, and trends. Beggs earned his BS and MS in recreation from Southern Illinois University and completed his PhD in leisure behavior at Indiana University.

Before teaching at Illinois State, Beggs served as a lecturer and internship coordinator for the department of recreation, park, and tourism studies at Indiana University and worked for public recreation agencies in the states of Illinois and Missouri. He serves on multiple editorial boards and coauthored Recreation Facility Management and Mastering the Job Search Process in Recreation and Leisure Services.

Beggs resides in Bloomington, Illinois, with his wife, Jeri, and children Brendan and Sydney. He enjoys coaching youth sports and playing golf in his free time.

Deborah A. Garrahy, PhD, has been teaching since 1986. Her professional background includes teaching elementary and adapted physical education in the public schools of Ohio and serving as a faculty member in physical education teacher education at Indiana University. Garrahy is an associate professor in the school of kinesiology and recreation at Illinois State University in Normal, specializing in physical education teacher education. She teaches courses in motor development, adapted physical education, and elementary physical education methods.

Garrahy earned her BS degree from Queens College of the City University of New York (physical education, 1985) and both her MS (adapted physical education, 1986) and PhD (curriculum and instruction, 1998) from Indiana University. In her free time she enjoys hiking, kayaking, and biking.

Read Park and Recreation Professional's Handbook With Online Resource, The By Amy Hurd, Denise Anderson for online ebook

Park and Recreation Professional's Handbook With Online Resource, The By Amy Hurd, Denise Anderson Free PDF d0wnl0ad, audio books, books to read, good books to read, cheap books, good books, online books, books online, book reviews epub, read books online, books to read online, online library, greatbooks to read, PDF best books to read, top books to read Park and Recreation Professional's Handbook With Online Resource, The By Amy Hurd, Denise Anderson books to read online.

Online Park and Recreation Professional's Handbook With Online Resource, The By Amy Hurd, Denise Anderson ebook PDF download

Park and Recreation Professional's Handbook With Online Resource, The By Amy Hurd, Denise Anderson Doc

Park and Recreation Professional's Handbook With Online Resource, The By Amy Hurd, Denise Anderson Mobipocket

Park and Recreation Professional's Handbook With Online Resource, The By Amy Hurd, Denise Anderson EPub